Photography Policy

updated 15 March 2018

Professional photographers:

The farm is an ideal setting for professional photo shoots, or filming documentaries and music videos. We are able to arrange reserved space and privacy when it does not interfere with our private and public events schedule, but we do require a phone call to confirm date availability, as well as a $50 deposit prior to your visit.

We encourage you to share your art with us, so we can share and promote you with our community of lavender lovers. Image/video credit will be given for all artwork shared, and this does not authorize us to resell or print your artwork for our own benefit. We share images on our website and social media platforms - find, follow, like and tag us on Facebook and Instagram!

We ask that all artists treat the farm with respect, as you will be held responsible for any injuries or damaged property and plants. Artists and invitees will not hold Lavender Fields Forever liable for any injury, damage, or illness that may arise on the farm.

Personal photography:

We invite you to capture the beauty of the farm on your camera or sketch pad - and please connect and share with us on social media! Photography, drawing, and painting is welcome, but please be respectful of all property, plants, and other guests. If you'd like to set up an easel or a private photo shoot, please contact us. Don't forget to find, follow, and tag us on Facebook and Instagram!
